The agenda will be reviewed, discussed, and considered for approval.
3. Approval of Minutes from September 9, 2025: 1st Murdock; 2nd Amidon; approved by consensus
The minutes will be reviewed, discussed, and considered for approval.
4. Public comment - none
Public comment period provided for members of the public; Curriculum Committee Chair may limit comment period by a vote of the committee.
5. Action Items: See curriculum proposals below
6. Reports
 - a. Curriculum Chair – Kelly Douglass
 - i. Info item about GESLO Revision
 1. Colleagues on Assessment brought GESLO here for revision. It has now gone through the Curriculum Committees and Senates. At District Curriculum, we noted there is a BP that suggested it needs to go to the Board.
 2. VP Wright – Dr. Bishop and she said BPis poorly written in terms of what the process is, but the best way to do it is through the regular curriculum approval process with other monthly curriculum updates and approvals that go to board.
 3. Chair Douglass volunteered as DCC Chair to take it to the Board at the next meeting and just fold it in. Once approved at the Board, that new language will be put into Curriqunet and the GESLO should update to all courses current and historical.
 - ii. Curricunet FSA clean up (Carry over from last week; moved to reports for timeliness)
 1. Regarding Curriqunet FSA cleanup we talked about in May meeting, curriculum is the responsibility of the person with the subject matter expertise who was hired into that discipline to do that work. If someone has a secondary FSA in another area, if there is no other discipline member that exists, then we can rely on those with secondary FSA. Generally, secondary FSAs are to a discipline that already exists. For example, some ENGL faculty have a secondary FSA in HUM, but HUM is an existing discipline with faculty. ENGL faculty with the HUM FSA can teach classes at the need/approval of the department, but the faculty member cannot propose curricular changes. HUM faculty can invite others as co-contributors.
 2. We had a lot of faculty who had a lot of permissions that were not what they were hired in originally and were not their primary faculty service area.

3. That cleanup has happened. We know we have faculty in historical situations that don't easily fit those existing parameters. We are working on cleaning that up and finding solutions for when despite those parameters when there might be gray areas.
4. If you think someone has lost permissions they are supposed to have, please contact Kelly.
5. Discussion of disciplines that lost time on mods they were working on when this change happened in the system; we hope to have a fix soon for that situation. Will discuss at next TR [on October 7].
6. Further discussion about subject matter expert term and definition. Douglass clarified, that someone with, as in example provided, a Master's in Computer Science, would make them an SME generally, but if they were not hired originally to do that, as a discipline member, they vote in and belong to the discipline they were hired in. If they contributed to the creation of the discipline and now are an active member in the discipline as acknowledged by the dean and department chair, we need to work that out with the VPAA. Our contract says secondary FSA is for teaching. If you want to belong to and vote on curriculum and do that in another discipline, our contract permits transferring into a different discipline. There are clearly historical scenarios where that was for all purposes what happened but we need historical knowledge. There has to be institutional knowledge about that.
7. Question: Part time faculty cannot be an originator? Correct, but they can be contributors when invited by the FT faculty responsible for the curriculum of their discipline at the college.
8. Continued discussion and examples.
 - b. Articulation Officer – Nicole Banerjee – no report, absent
 - c. Curriculum Coordinator – Casandra Greene – no report, absent
 - d. Tech Review Chair – Steven Schmidt
 - i. There are a few bugs in newest version of Curriqunet. We are keeping track of them and working with Acadea to address what we can.
 - ii. To help folks, if you run across issues, Steven is trying to continuously update tutorial videos. If you have an issues or trying to figure out a workflow, follow the link to go to videos. If there's an issue not in those videos, will try to make a video.
 - e. Academic Standards – Brock Russell
 - i. We will be reviewing updating BP/AP about the baccalaureate degree.
 - ii. Title 5 changed, so we have to incorporate that language.
 - f. VPAA – Lynn Wright
 - i. Enrollment is 99.4% as of today and well ahead of YTD enrollment. Winter gives us a little cushion for fall.

- ii. Innovation in Curriculum – Talking with Kelly and Casandra about innovation in curriculum. As we learn more, there will be more issues to address including with Inland Empire Technical Trade Center IETTC that will be attached to RCC.
 - 1. Douglass – Curriculum will also belong to RCC?
 - 2. Wright – Yes, and we’ll need to think creatively about IETTC. Working with Dr. Bishop and Jo Scott Coe to talk about and plan for IETTC. Meant to mostly be CTE. Folks are getting creative with the baccalaureate degrees.
 - 3. Pushing heavily AB1400, the bill that could give nursing a baccalaureate degree that is currently not allowed under California law. Have been told it would be 10 colleges, would not be a competitive process, and RCC would be likely to be selected.
 - 4. Wright praised work Douglass did on SAAM tool, explaining it, and that tool is coveted. We are far ahead of the curve. Trust the process, trust the faculty to look at the curriculum, play with the tool, think about things, think about what is best for students. Next year this time we will have to have curriculum put in if we are to not take major hits financially, but there is time.
 - 5. Workgroup Janet Lehr and Courtney Cartner for program mapper which is a program that started with Bakersfield. You can see examples in Chaffey’s catalog. The benefits are student centered. There is the need to update our program maps regardless of whether you move to program mapper. Because of all the changes like CCN and CalGETC, maps do need to be updated. On Oct 10 from 8 to 1, we are going to have an opportunity to learn about program mapper, but it’s meant to be a working space devoted to help us as a group work together to update program maps for our students. Not sure if it’s FLEX credit, but will meet with faculty development, may be institutional service, but Lynn doesn’t make that decision. Any faculty member is welcome to join.
- g. ASRCC Representatives – Isabella Semin and Abraham Jefferson
 - i. This week Student Gov’t elections, voting starts at midnight.
 - ii. This week is home coming week.
 - 1. We are having events each day.
 - a. Tomorrow (9/24) is Karaoke, water polo, cook out, and volleyball.
 - b. 25th, dress to impress event and pep rally.
 - c. Saturday homecoming football game against Palomar. Tail gate starts at 10am.
 - 2. Haynes – THE and DAN presenting at the pep rally.
- h. SAAM Unit/Hour Change Updates and Ideas
 - i. Quick points there was no time for last week

1. In a lot of disciplines, once you figure out what the plan is, it can apply to a whole bunch of courses because they're a similar course type. If you deliver your lec/lab combo in a way similar to another discipline, it could be helpful to share that with colleagues.
 2. When you are talking about these courses, lecture and lab are not the same type of course delivery. Lecture is where faculty are delivering direct instruction even if it is in collaborative learning; you are prepping what's happening and the instructor is walking away with student work that is extensive for to be looking through. Low prep lab is a skills practice time for students to practice the skill they are learning from you in the lecture and homework. For every an hour a student spends with you in lecture, you can give them two hours for further homework. The lab is not supposed to generate new homework or new instructional responsibility from the faculty. The exception to this is the extensive prep lab that has been curriculum approved; the lecture and the lab are still different pieces, but the lab is extensive prep so you get lecture pay. The lab is still intended to be where you are supporting what you are doing in the lecture, but it may require additional instruction. This isn't a pile of equal hours to just play with. We have to do what's right for our students, but it should be done in an academically forthright manner as well.
 3. When you have a mixed class, your IDC has to schedule the lecture and the lab separately as different pieces of the class. You need to look at the scheduling calculator carefully.
 4. When this was taken to the RCC Senate, Douglass presented it to the Senate as thoroughly as possible, Skip Berry asked how faculty could help. Because we have had so much work foisted upon us by the CCCC, the ASCCC, and the other pressures; some disciplines are struggling with the number of state mandates, including CCN, CalGETC, and SAAM changes. We have had for so long common curriculum that we have been able to maintain really smoothly. The State Chancellor's Office and ASCCC have set such an enormous set of asks onto us and faculty may be fatigued. Thinking about how can we help? What can be done to make this work? Being curious and humble about why we think one solution is better. Try to listen to each other. Be solutions oriented. This is what we are here to do as full time faculty, it is our right and responsibility. We have time and don't have to rush to judgment.
 5. Please know that Kelly is not telling anyone what to do. Trying to give people informed tools. It may happen that your TA has to change, but we should talk about it, and should talk about what we can do.
- ii. Anything from the field?
1. Discussion about faculty and IDC effort to put in fractions for a lecture/lab. To make it work for 1.5 units, the hours for lecture are like 13.6 hours. Is a decimal possible in scheduling? Issue may not be the decimal, which we already have but hours under 18. Douglass question: Is this a technology problem, or a programmatic funding problem we can't get around? We know we have short hours and irregular hours/units in some cases, so we need to determine this for sure and what restrictions there are.

2. Discussion about making sure to get in the habit of communicating with district discipline regularly. How labs or other partial combos are implemented may be different, so need time to discuss solutions.
3. Question about fundamentals of SAAM change: Why have courses always been listed as three units, when they are 3.33?
 - a. Because we round to half unit increments. Chancellor's office has funded us based on what we were delivering regardless of what the students received/paid for as a unit value. In ENGL, we have been funded this way for at least 29 years. Now the Chancellor's office is saying they only pay for hours that are in the units students receive.
 - b. Cannot answer what the impact is to faculty load. Some disciplines already have a solution, but it depends on the nature of the class.

iii. Request from Disciplines for a Modified Calendar

1. Casandra did some devastating research. The courses that are impacted by SAAM and CCN (over lap between those courses is only 6; in every other case it's different sets of classes). The number of proposals that we will see, and equally important, the number of system updates that our curriculum specialist Casandra Greene, and her colleagues, the number of system updates will be 2.5x larger than her previous highest ever work load. What she brought to tech review last week is that is not physically possible to do all of these courses if we wait on them for the September due dates. Curriculum Specialists have to wait until the December Board, and only then can they do the system updates they have to do.
2. Some suggestions we threw around at Tech Review:
 - a. Phase 2B courses, you have the templates, so anyone who has a Phase 2B course, it'd be great if you could launch that by or before early March. Please discuss with your discipline and see if it's doable.
 - b. Another piece is that if any of the SAAM courses if there's some you can see right now what the fix is and you know you can do it, launch any time you can after October 3.
 - c. We don't have the Phase 3 templates, so we can't ask for anyone to do anything.
3. Please look at your course list. If you can do the work earlier, talk to disciplines, look at your courses, and if you can do some, please launch them. Share info with chairs or at committee; Tech Review may need to make some kind of rolling schedule guidelines
4. Vermillion – Our affected courses on SAAM are up for review, so we're just going to figure it out by October 3.
 - a. Kelly Douglass – That appears to be fine for that program.

- b. Vermillion – Anesthesia tech requires 500 hours as a minimum. If we take it down to 500 and divide by 54, the units are still over.
 - c. Wright – Courses tied to licensure we have no choice.
 - d. Kelly – Places where this is a licensure restriction, please talk with your amazing VPAA who will then work with Kelly on anything we have to work with District to say we can't change certain things.
- 5. Haines – So many components you have to think about. Any suggestion of a workflow chart to think through this?
 - a. Kelly – That is a good idea. For now, share the SAAM tool to your discipline members who can play with it. Your department leadership, present solutions for discussion.
 - b. Lynn – Continue to carve out space in curriculum committee for discussion. Perhaps we dedicate a work day some Friday to share ideas. Perhaps pay people in the Winter to do some of the work.
 - c. Kelly – Leadership is committed to common curriculum. We are so unique as a district and it is so beneficial to students.
- 7. Douglass requested a motion for an additional 5 minutes: 1st Amidon; 2nd Haynes; unanimous
 - 1. Reports tabled for next meeting: Equity-Minded Curriculum

 - a. Minutes Requirements Reference Sheet: As you are loading your minutes, check the reference sheet. Lives on the District Curriculum Website. Use to check what minutes you need for what proposal type; then use the tally cover sheet to collect all votes on a single page.
 - b. When in Curriqnet and looking at the course report and you can see course impact and it shows you all the programs; impact report now also shows if your class is mirrored or honors or cross listed so that you don't forget if you're revising that there's another course.

Discussion:

Point made from Nursing that the Department offers medical terminology for health care professions. Based on previous curriculum discussions, would have expected some collaboration. Point that a program such as anesthesia technology where they have to take medical terminology, the student may think they have to take (or end up taking) duplicate courses. Reached out to find out if we're having an attrition problem, or an issue with ESL that would appear to be justifiable. The resources being used have intense pronunciation. Is it going to create confusion for the pathways and they have content about exploring career health profession pathways when NRN is the health related pathway. Course has objectives related to career pathways, but no outcomes related to career pathways. What is the impact for pathways requiring medical terminology?

Douglass – Is noncredit and not required, but do agree with point about collaboration. We do expect to see a certificate, which should have some of those research questions. That third objective may not be an ESL appropriate objective.

Question about FSA and ability to teach medical terminology?

After vote to hold, additional discussion:

Douglass – These are being proposed at all three colleges. If NOR and MOV approve them, it is a two-to-one. Kelly will say at DCC there is a concern.

Also noted that advisories are not linked in the entrance skills and concern about discipline placement for some of these topics. Discussion about approach likely being from a language acquisition perspective, and that perhaps the objectives and outcomes should be more narrow.

Review of discussion of 800-level courses (non-credit) and the PCAH 10 different areas that are covered in the annual training – remember that ESL is a big area in non-credit. Observation that medical terminology for ESL may be a common course, but scope should be looked at.
